Press Release

Las Vegas garage door specialist releases three ways to prepare garage doors for cooler weather

Damian Douglas, owner of Damian Douglas Garage Door in Las Vegas, Henderson and Summerlin, NV says preparing for the winter season is the smart thing to do.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LAS VEGAS, NV, Sept. 20, 2011: Fall is the ideal time to prepare your garage door for coming weather changes, so says Damian Douglas, owner of Damian Douglas Garage Door [<http://www.damiandouglasgaragedoor.com>] in Las Vegas, Summerlin and Henderson, NV.

He said that getting the garage door ready for cold season is the smart thing to do and now is the right time to do it.

“You don’t want to wait for the end of fall season or the beginning of winter to start getting your garage door ready. By then, it is late and it can get pretty expensive,” he said.

“This is the right time to get it ready. It is a simple process really but failing to do so could cost homeowners a lot of money,” he added.

He urged homeowners to check the garage door seal to ensure it has no leaks. “Garage door leaks could be expensive for the homeowner because it lets air escape. This is an easy thing to do. Simply check the bottom of the garage door for gaps between the door and the floor. Buy the seal and cover the gap,” he said.

“Garage door seals vary in price and size. Buy the seal designed for your kind of floor and weather. Home improvement store employees can help you select the best seal for your door. The seal you buy as homeowner also depends on the part of the country you live in. Snowy areas need a different seal than areas with moderate temperatures.”

Damian Douglas said homeowners should also check their garage door opener remotes to ensure they are working properly.

“Many homeowners don’t check their garage door opener remotes to ensure they are in good condition. Homeowners need to change the batteries if they suspect it may not have enough power.”

He urged homeowners to check their garage door balance to ensure it is right. “If your garage door balance is off, it puts a lot of pressure of the door opener every time you open the door.”

“To check the balance, pull the cord to disengage the door. Lift the door halfway. The door should stay in the middle when you let it go. If the door go up towards the ceiling or fall down, you know the balance needs adjustment.”
